

LONGCROFT

—SCHOOL AND SIXTH FORM COLLEGE—

Applicant Pack

Curriculum Leader: Physical Education

As free make I thee, as heart may think, or eye may see.

Headteacher's Welcome

I am delighted to welcome you to this application pack and introduce you to our school.

Longcroft School and Sixth Form has a long tradition of being at the heart of the local community, and we are proud to serve the market town of Beverley and its surrounding areas. Our location and facilities are truly exceptional. Over 7.5 million pounds has been invested over recent years in our state-of-the-art learning spaces and with extensive grounds boasting fabulous views across the local Westwood Pastures and Beverley Racecourse, this really is a stunning place to be and learn.

Our school has a clear vision to provide an exceptional education founded on shared values and an absolute ambition for each and every child. We are a positive, welcoming and inclusive school, where every child is known and cared for as an individual, and where pupils take pride in their achievements.

Founded in 1951 Longcroft's school motto celebrated the distinct education the school sought to provide. This motto remains an integral part of school life today and has helped to define who we are as a community.

“As free make I thee, as heart may think, or eye may see.”

In working to re-vision the school in recent years, we have distilled the meaning of these original words to articulate our core values:

Great Heart - The human qualities that define an individual. For example, demonstrating kindness, offering support or actively caring for the wider community and the environment we live in; acting with integrity and demonstrating character in serving the common good.

Great Thought - Academic success or excellence. For example, the production of a superb piece of classwork, homework, outstanding assessment and examination outcomes, or an impressive piece of thinking in class.

Great Vision - Showing our readiness for the future by developing the skills and qualities that will lead to success in life beyond school. For example, critical thinking, acting with initiative, team work, personal discipline, and understanding how to be safe and healthy as individuals, and in our relationships with others.

Through these core values we seek to articulate our commitment to educating the whole child and to preparing our young people for the challenges and opportunities that life beyond school will present. We work hard to provide an enriched and holistic school experience, which values the opportunities we are able to provide beyond what is taught in our classrooms. We seek to promote learning and personal development in many and varied ways including our extensive range of clubs, trips, visits and performances, charity and community work, our Duke of Edinburgh Scheme, or representing the school competitively through sport, the arts or literature.

This is an incredible time to be joining our school as demand for places continues to grow rapidly. We have enjoyed national profile, with the school being recognised for its achievements in recent years and have ambitious plans for the future. Alongside reading this application pack, I would encourage you to find out more about who we are by contacting us, and visiting our school to meet our fabulous staff and pupils.

We believe in the capacity for ordinary people to achieve extraordinary things, and welcome applications from those who wish to join us in 'reimagining what's possible' as individuals and as a community.
